

MARKUP of Proposed Change to the Regulations of the Residential Contractors Committee:

224-25-5-14. Display of Name and License Number

Each contractor holding a license from the Residential Building Contractors Committee shall display in a prominent, legible manner the license number and contractor's name, as licensed, in letters not less than three inches high on a sign prominently displayed at all residential job sites.

SUMMARY: This is a new rule which requires licensed residential contractors to display the contractors name and license number at the residential job location.
